HE month of August is largely taken up with holidays and little of interest or importance remains to be recorded in this month’s Magazine. The glorious weather has benefitted both holiday-makers and farmers and we have every reason to be thankful for this year’s harvest. There is one matter which perhaps may be mentioned this month. While it is true that so many seats in the Parish Church are conspicuously empty on Sundays, the number of people who attend Church in the course of a month is reasonably good. For instance, if everyone who now attends occasionally could make the effort to attend at least once each Sunday regularly our congregations would be well up to the average and better than is the case in many other places. Now that holidays are more or less over will you think about this?

IT seems likely that we may be involved in considerable expense over repairs to the chancel roof. When the heavy stone slates fell without warning into the churchyard the consequences might have been most serious as a party of visitors had passed only a few minutes before the stone gave way.

It may be necessary to strip the whole chancel roof in order that it may be safe in future.
